The underactivebladder.org website (the "Site") is wholly owned and produced by the Bladder Health Foundation.

The Underactive Bladder Foundation is the operating name for the Bladder Health Foundation, which is a private foundation focused on unmet needs in urology. Upon request, we are able to provide copies of our application for exemption and/or the three recent annual information returns as well as consider funding requests.

The contents of the UABF Site, such as text, graphics, images, information and other material contained on the UABF Site ("Content") are intended to be general summary information to the public for informational purposes only. The Content is not intended to be a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment. Always seek the advice of your physician or other qualified health provider with any questions you may have regarding a medical condition.

Furthermore, the Bladder Health Foundation states that:

We do not keep a database of people who send email to us, and we do not pass these details to other people.

We make no effort to identify public users of our site. No identifying data is disclosed to anyone else for any purpose.

We do not solicit medical information from any of our public users.

The mission of the Bladder Health Foundation is the scientific advancement of bladder health.
research.

The information provided on www.underactivebladder.org is designed to support, not replace, any relationship that exists between a patient/site visitor and his/her health care professional(s).

This website’s intended audience consists of those healthcare professionals who practice bladder medicine and those with an interest in its scientific advancement. It is further hoped that the Foundation may attract institutional participation in our clinical trials consortia.
